

"Does Your Staff Understand How to Prevent Fraud & Abuse?"

Healthcare Fraud & Abuse Education:

From insurers to providers, this fraud and abuse is a costly problem that should be addressed. If your organization receives $5 million or more annual Medicaid revenue, you must comply with the fraud and abuse education requirements of the Deficit Reduction Act (DRA).

Courses topics include:

- ◆ Defining healthcare fraud & abuse
- ◆ Explaining false claims, kickbacks & self referrals
- ◆ Describing the federal and state laws that apply
- ◆ Potential penalties for violating those laws
- ◆ Rights of employees that report fraud & abuse
- ◆ Key components of a corporate compliance program to prevent fraud & abuse

BridgeFront's Fraud & Abuse training combined with your organizational procedures for detecting fraud and abuse will satisfy your DRA education compliance requirements.

Whether you are conducting initial staff training, training new hires or providing annual refresher requirements, healthcare fraud & abuse awareness education from BridgeFront, will help you stay compliant.
